

Lucy Hicklin, FRCS(ORL H&N)

Lucy Hicklin is an ENT consultant with a special interest in voice disorders. She has been working as a consultant in the field since 2003 running the multidisciplinary voice clinic at St Georges in Tooting. Ms Hicklin qualified from the Royal Free Hospital in 1988, and in 2003 became a consultant ENT surgeon. Over the years she has developed particular expertise in dealing with neurological issues affecting the voice, swallowing and breathing and their treatment with Botulinim Toxin. She has lectured both in the UK and further afield on voice and swallowing problems. In conjunction with her neurology colleague Dr M.H. Marion, Ms Hicklin runs a tertiary referral Complex head and neck dystonia clinic at St George's.
