

Sabine Pellett, PhD

Dr. Sabine Pellett is senior scientist in the bacteriology department at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, where she works together with Dr. Eric a Johnson on botulinum neurotoxins and Clostridium botulinum. Sabine received her PhD in Molecular and Environmental Toxicology at the University of Wisconsin-Madison in 2004, after completing a Master's degree in Biology at Portland State University, Oregon in 1997. Sabine Pellett grew up in Heidelberg, Germany and studied Biology at the University of Heidelberg, Germany, for three years, receiving an equivalent of a Bachelor's degree in 1995. Sabine's has authored or co-authored over 40 peer reviewed publications and two book-chapters on botulinum neurotoxins and has received several NIH research grants.